Pasta is better when the table's full—and so are we.

At Indaco, our house-made pastas are meant for sharing, for passing around the table, and for pairing with good friends and even better stories.

Bring the crew. We'll bring the pasta.

Tuscan-inspired flavors meet modern charm at this Italian restaurant, where house-made pastas and wood-fired pizzas take center stage. With a thoughtful wine list and an atmosphere made for lingering, it's a place where good food and easy conversation go hand in hand. 1080 N. Railroad Ave.
